

SPUDM 2019

Subjective Probability, Utility, and Decision Making

18 – 22 August 2019

Session 2	Symposium: Innovations in Judgment Research using Brunswik's Lens Model (Dhami & Kaufmann) (A0.01)	Ethics & Morality I (A1.02)	Nudges & Heuristics II (A1.03)	Consumer behavior I (A2.07)	Equity & Equality (A2.09)	Prospect & Framing (A2.11)
14.00 - 15.30	Arndt Bröder Metamemory viewed through Brunswik's lens	Nigel Harvey Ethical decision making: Effects of	Eyal Pe'er Nudge me right: Personalizing online	Natasha Gandhi Associative cues underpinning	Tom Gordon-Hecker It Wasn't Me: Having a default increases	Michael DeKay Meta-studies (multitudes of tiny
	Elizaveta Konovalova A Brunswikian take on Information Sampling,	Christoph Kogler Timing of Audit Feedback Affects Tax	Leonidas Spiliopoulos Heuristics can withstand	Aurelien Baillion A behavioral decomposition of	Frieder Neunhoeffler The Inequality Trap: How High Stakes Fuel	Nathaniel Ashby The consistency of visual attention to
	Claudia Gonzalez-Vallejo Testing the benefits of nutrition labels using	Nils Kobis Social norms of corruption in the field -	Erika Kirgios Choice Bracketing and Its Implications for	Anne-Kathrin Klesse Using Language to Promote Sustainable	Arvid Erlandsson You are equally valuable, but I will not	Erik Løhre The effect of frames on perceived expert
	Esther Kaufmann On the Acceptance of Computerized Expert	Štěpán Bahník Selection effects on dishonest behavior: Do	Eduard Brandstätter How Good are Choice Heuristics?	Aysegül Kanay Making the carbon basket count: Enabling	Cathrin Schödler How the influence of power and social	Vulnet Sejdiu St. Petersburg Paradox vs. Allais Paradox: How
		Fiona tho Pesch Seeing Moral Transgressions	Eugen Dimant When a Nudge Backfires: Using	Susanne Täuber Consumers' inconsistency about	Ellen Evers Arbitrary Fairness	Philip Millroth The Decision Paradoxes Motivating
		Guy Hochman Revenge is not blind - Testing the ability of	Robert Böhm How Defaults Shape War and Peace	Eyal Ert Could Product Experience Change	Yaakov Kareev Myopic reactivity in repeated choice: The	Eldad Yechiam The debatable origins of loss aversion